¶Another memorial slab is to Robert Lovett, a London merchant, 1657, and to Elizabeth wife of Robert Crompton, 1693, with the arms of the three running wolves which play upon his name; and another with his arms is to John Hillersdon of the Inner Temple, 1684.

On the wall of the south aisle is a marble monument with two Corinthian pilasters to Thomas Hillersdon, 1656, with a shield of his arms, and on the right a shield with a bend cotised and three crescents on the bend. On the top of the monument is a shield of the one impaling the other.

There is another mural slab to John Hillersdon, 1684. In the north aisle is a mural monument to Lovetus Crompton, son of Robert Crompton, with the arms: Argent a chief vert with three pheons or therein. Another shield has Crompton impaling Gyronny or and azure a bend ermine with three unicorns' heads razed thereon.

Another monument to Robert Crompton son of Thomas Crompton of Creswell, Stafford, 1681, has his arms: Or a chief vert with three pheons or therein quartered with (2) a cheveron ermine between three crosslets, (3) Gules, three scimitars argent with hilts or, and (4) Argent three running wolves sable.
